

TELL SOMEONE ABOUT "YOUR CHAMBER"

Rick Mudrick, Attorney at Law

OUR CHAMBER (remember that term because it will be important later) is currently in membership mode. Debbie and Donna are contacting prospective members and explaining the benefits of membership in OUR CHAMBER (there it is again). It made me think—if someone asked me why he should join the Chamber, what would I say? I realized that I needed an elevator speech, something short and succinct to try to convince a person to make OUR CHAMBER (there it is again, must be a pattern) his or her chamber.

The first paragraph is all that I wrote and then I got stuck. I told myself I would finish it later. But then the deadline loomed and Debbie called to see how my article was coming. No problem I told her. It would be finished in time.

As I was walking to the bank today, I passed a new business in Charleroi. I decided to stop in and welcome the owner to town. I introduced myself and asked him if anyone had contacted him about Chamber membership. Of course Debbie already had (way to go Deb!). Then I thought that I would try out my Chamber speech on him (you know, the one that I had not written yet). I told him that:

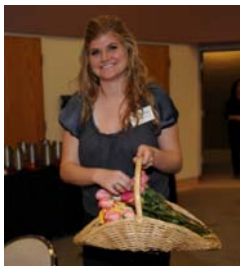

–The Chamber has great networking events where a member can meet other members and develop great relationships which can help you strengthen your business. Every person that you meet has a spouse, significant other, parent, child, sibling or friend (multiple actually) that need your product or service. Meeting one or two new people at each meeting multiplies your opportunities of reaching more customers.

–The Chamber has outstanding educational events that help you make your business more successful.

–The Chamber takes an active role in community events such as our very popular "Its Easy to be Green Day," and the Annual Breast Cancer Walk. The Regional Chamber is connected and partnered with local, County, and State agencies that provide resources for our businesses and our citizens, i.e., the CareerLink, the Transit Authority, California University, the PA Downtown Center and many more.

–The Chamber has a phenomenal full time staff that organizes everything that we do. So the next time that you are having lunch with a friend that is not a Chamber member, start a conversation about why he or she should consider joining so that he or she can refer to the Mon Valley Regional Chamber of Commerce as "MY CHAMBER," and tell them to call the Chamber for a very "Sweet Deal" we have in progress RIGHT NOW!

Rick practices law in Charleroi, and serves as Vice President of the Mon Valley Regional Chamber of Commerce.

FAREWELL CELEBRATION FOR CHARLEROI STADIUM

Plans are moving into high gear for a farewell celebration at the Charleroi Area High School athletic stadium. The festivities will take place Friday, October 22, when the Cougars face Freedom High School in a WPIAL exhibition football game. It will most likely be the final event to be held at the venerable facility that opened in 1937. Bill Wiltz, Charleroi Area High athletic director, and Mark Joswick, a retired educator living in Montclair, VA, are coordinating the event. "We're looking to make it a very special night, a well-deserved celebration and sendoff for an important part of our community's history," Wiltz said. "Everyone in Charleroi has fond memories of the stadium. It has been here for 73 years and has been home to so many memorable events, times that go far beyond athletics."

The Charleroi Area School Board decided earlier this year to close the stadium at the end of the 2010 football season and construct a new facility near the educational complex that houses the high school, middle school and elementary center in Fallowfield Township. The new stadium is expected to be ready for the opening of the 2011 season. "We are hoping to fill the stadium one last time and relive the glory that has been such an important part of so many people's lives," Joswick said. Wiltz and Joswick, both 1970 graduates of Charleroi Area High School, are inviting "anyone and everyone" to be part of the festivities. That includes former athletes, coaches, team managers, band members, majorettes, cheerleaders linesmen, public address announcers "anyone involved with the Red and Black," they said. Wiltz said efforts are being made to have an Alumni Band return to perform at the October 22 game. All former musicians, majorettes and cheerleaders are urged to contact him if they are interested in participating. Joswick and his daughters, Ashley and Courtney, are volunteering their time and talents to design and produce a commemorative poster for the final game at the stadium. It will include archive pictures and history of the stadium. Joswick has spent countless hours gathering information about and photos of the stadium but said he's looking for more. Anyone with such pictures can contact Joswick at josmcjac@comcast.net.

DAVID DAVIS COMMUNICATIONS REPORTS RAPID INCREASE IN THE ADOPTION OF HOSTED VoIP AMONG SMALL TO MID-SIZED COMPANIES

David Davis Communications, Inc., an industry leader in unified communications, announced today that hosted Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP) is experiencing tremendous adoption by small to mid-sized businesses. A number of distinct benefits such as superior quality of service, reduction of cost, flexibility, built in business continuity and advanced applications are driving the demand for hosted VoIP technology.

Unlike a traditional phone system, hosted VoIP requires no on-site PBX hardware. Instead the technology uses VoIP service to place and receive calls using the Internet. This service is frequently hosted remotely by a 3rd party VoIP provider. As a result, an end user's communication via VoIP service is handled by redundant enterprise servers offsite. An organization can add or remove phones on a hosted system any time.

The U.S. business hosted IP voice services market is expected to grow from 828,350 seats in 2008 to 4,910,499 seats in 2013, a CAGR of 42.8%, according to Interactive Data Corporation (IDC), a market research firm specifically focused on the IT segment. "The SMB marketplace has started to really embrace hosted VoIP because it dramatically increases their profitability and gives them a competitive advantage," said Michael Joos, VP of Sales of David Davis Communications, Inc.

If you are interested in acquiring this technology for your business, call David Davis Communications at (724) 348-5463 or visit www.ddc-inc.com.
